OVERVIEW

Refugee movement is a critical issue in the 21st century, concerning governments, NGOs, and human rights activists globally. This poster sheds light on the global movement of refugees from 2010-2022, analyzing how the volume of refugees and their migration trends have changed over time.

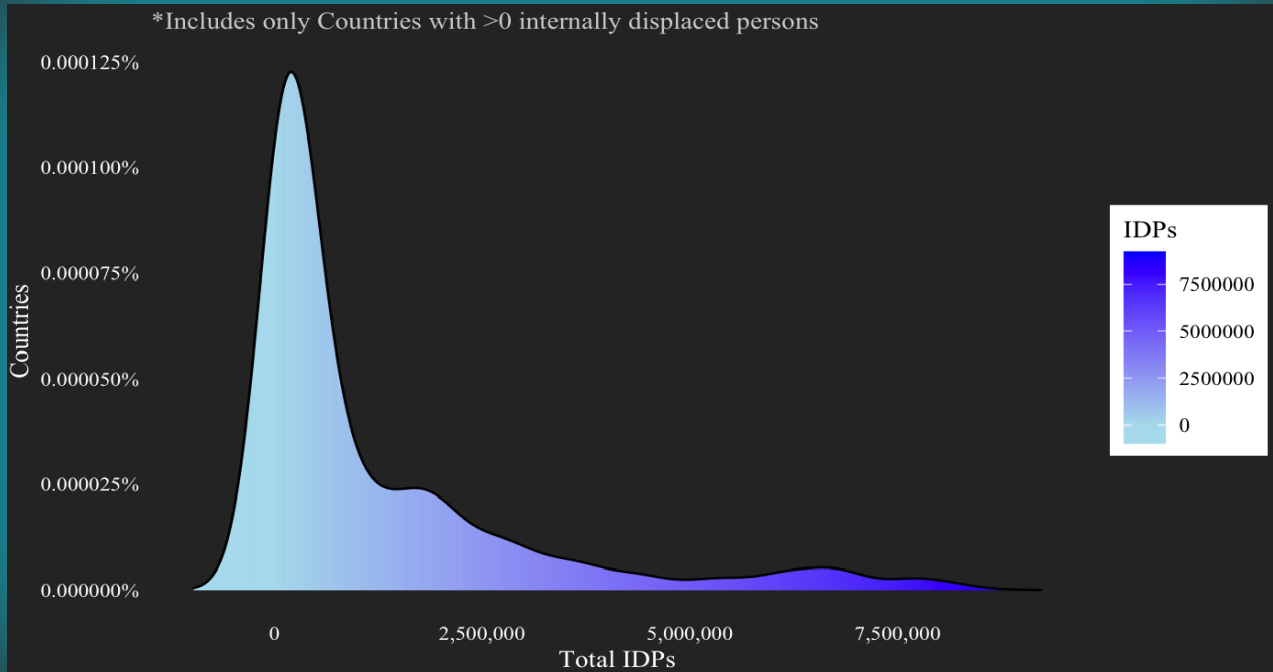

AUDIENCE

The audience for this poster includes human rights activists, NGOs, students, and policy-makers. The information is intended to help guide understanding of global migration for effective resource allocation.

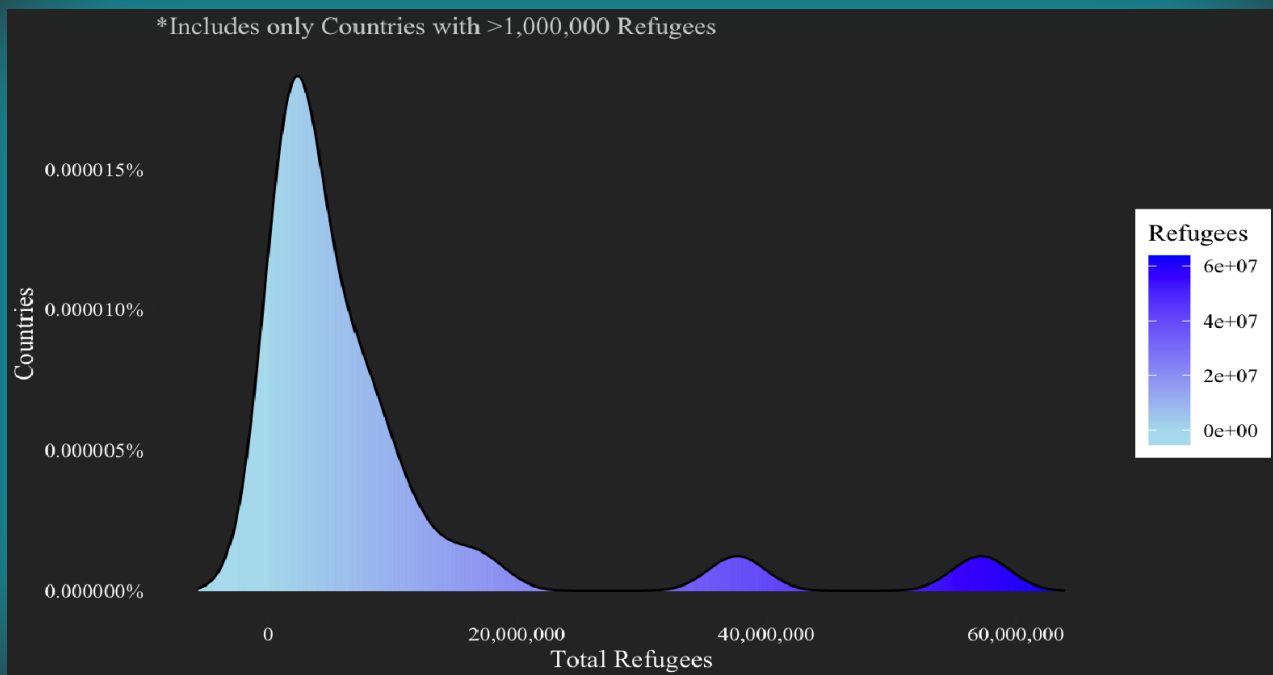

DATA DESCRIPTION

The dataset contains 64,809 data points with 16 different attributes including year, number of refugees, country of origin, country of acceptance, and number of stateless persons. Due to the size of the datasets, some visualizations show only significant patterns of migration (5,000,000 or more).
